

THE CHRISTIAN CONSERVATIVE MOVEMENT AND AMERICAN DEMOCRACY

Edited by Steven Brint and Jean Reith Schroedel

VOLUME 1: EVANGELICALS, THE RELIGIOUS RIGHT, AND AMERICAN SOCIETY

Introduction

By Steven Brint (Department of Sociology, University of California, Riverside) and Jean
Reith Schroedel (Department of Politics and Policy, Claremont Graduate University)

Part One: The Christian Conservative Movement in Comparative-Historical Perspective

Chapter 1

Conservative Protestantism? A Comparative and Historical Perspective

By Philip S. Gorski (Department of Sociology, Yale University)

Chapter 2

The Decline, Transformation and Revival of the Christian Right

By Peter Dobkin Hall (Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University)

Chapter 3

Comparing Global and National Explanations for the Rise of the Christian Right

By Pippa Norris (Department of Government, Harvard University) .

Part Two: Evangelical Christians as a Social Movement

Chapter 4

The Cultural Capital of American Evangelicalism

By Robert Wuthnow (Department of Sociology, Princeton University)

Chapter 5

The Organizational Vitality of American Evangelicalism

By Mitchell L. Stevens (Steinhardt School of Education, New York University)

Chapter 6

The Co-Evolution of the Republican Party and the Christian Conservative Movement: A Challenge to Social Movement Theory

By Clyde Wilcox (Department of Politics, Georgetown University)

Chapter 7

Cooperation and Conflict among Evangelicals, Roman Catholic Conservatives,
Mormons, and Orthodox Jews

By John C. Green (Department of Political Science, University of Akron)

Part Three: Christian Conservatives and America's Social Institutions

Chapter 8

The Traditional Values Core: Christian Conservatives, the Family, and Sexuality

By W. Bradford Wilcox (Department of Sociology, University of Virginia) and John P. Bartkowski (Department of Sociology, Mississippi State University)

Chapter 9

The Education Gospel: Christian Conservatives and Public Schooling

By David Sikkink (Department of Sociology, University of Notre Dame)

Chapter 10

The Sacred and the Profane: Christian Conservatives and Popular Culture

By Gabriel Rossman (Department of Sociology, University of California, Los Angeles)

Chapter 11

Rival Principles of Authority: Christian Conservatives and the Law

By Rogers M. Smith (Department of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania)

VOLUME 2: EVANGELICALS, THE RELIGIOUS RIGHT, AND AMERICAN POLITICS

Introduction

By Steven Brint (Department of Sociology, University of California, Riverside) and Jean Reith Schroedel (Department of Politics and Policy, Claremont Graduate University)

Part One: The Values Question and American Politics

Chapter 1

Moral-Values Voters in Recent American Presidential Elections

By Michael Hout (Department of Sociology, University of California, Berkeley)

Chapter 2

Explaining America's Commonalities and Divisions on Moral Values

By Wayne E. Baker (Stephen M. Ross School of Business, University of Michigan) and Steven Brint (Department of Sociology, University of California, Riverside)

Chapter 3

Moral-Values Issues and Political Party Organizations

By Kimberly Conger (Department of Political Science, Iowa State University)

Part Two: Christian Conservatives: Inclusion and Marginalization of Minority Groups

Chapter 4

The Evangelical Movement and Racial Minorities

By Michele Lamont (Department of Sociology, Harvard University), Prudence Carter (Department of Sociology, Boston College), and Paul Lichterman (Department of Sociology, University of Southern California)

Chapter 5

Evangelical Movement and Women

By Jean Reith Schroedel, Jennifer Merolla, and Scott Waller (Department of Politics and Policy, Claremont Graduate University)

Chapter 6

Evangelicals and Religious Dissenters: Seculars, Agnostics, and Atheists

By Rhys Williams (Department of Sociology, University of Cincinnati)

Part Three: The Religious Right and the Future of American Democracy

Chapter 7

Rank-and-File Evangelicals and the Activist Elite: Views of Pluralist Democracy

By Julie Ingersoll (Department of Philosophy, University of North Florida)

Chapter 8

Cohesion and Division: American Evangelicals and their Political Leaders

By D. Michael Lindsay (Department of Sociology, Rice University)

Chapter 9

Where is the Other Side? Explanations for the Failure of Liberal Religious 'Moral Values'

By John H. Evans (Department of Sociology, University of California, San Diego)

Chapter 10

Public Reason and the Christian Right

By Nathaniel Klemp and Stephen Macedo (Department of Politics, Princeton University)