

Clyde Wilcox is professor of Government at Georgetown University. He has written extensively on religion and politics in the US and abroad, on gender politics, campaign finance, and science fiction and politics. His recent books include The Values Campaign? The Christian Right in the 2004 Election (Georgetown University Press), and Onward Christian Soldiers (3rd edition), Westview.